COMMITTEE O.K. GIVEN TO OHIO TURNPIKE IDEA

COLUMBUS, April 28—(AP)—Legislation to allow construction of Ohio toll super-roads to join an extended Pennsylvania turnpike had the house highway committee's green light today.

The committee by a vote of 15 to 8 recommended passage Wednesday night of the bill by Sens. Ralph A. Winter (R-Medina) and William M. Boyd (D-Cuyahoga). It already has cleared the senate.

The house taxation committee reported out two low-rent housing measures. Gov. Frank J. Lausche urged such legislation as companion measures to the urban redevelopment bill passed Tuesday by the house.

One housing bill restricts tenancy to people with incomes of less than $2,000 a year, plus $200 for each dependent. Veterans would be given preference.

Housing authorities would be required to pay from shelter rent, in lieu of taxes, the maximum amount needed to keep the state eligible for federal subsidies. The federal limit now is ten percent.

The other bill exempts low-rent housing from taxes even though rents are collected. That would put housing projects in the same category as municipally owned properties such as market houses which pay rents but are tax exempt.

The turnpike bill would create a five-member commission with the state highway director an ex-officio member. Commissioners would serve eight-year terms. They would be paid $5,000 annually.

The commission would be empowered to issue bonds for sale to the public to finance construction of the four-lane divided super-highway across Northern Ohio. The bonds would be retired from tolls charged users. The highway then would be "given" to the state. An amendment would make the bonds ineligible for purchase by state retirement systems.

Object To Condemnation Opponents objected to granting the commission power to condemn and buy land needed for a 200-foot wide right of way. Winter pointed out that payment would be required before taking the property. Disputes over price would be settled in the courts of the county where the property is located.

J. L. Marsh of Youngstown, executive secretary of the petroleum industry committee of Ohio, said the turnpike would create a monopoly and bankrupt small businesses catering to tourists on present through routes.

Winter asserted the state couldn't finance such roads without heavy new taxes. He said the turnpike would increase business in Ohio.

RED OFFER ENCOURAGES TRUMAN

CIO UNION SEEKS RAISE

Electrical Worker Union Announces Desires For 300-Million Hike

NEW YORK, April 28—(AP)—A $300,000,000-a-year hike in the electrical manufacturing industry's wage bill is sought by a 600,000-member CIO union.

Wage increases and other benefits totalling about $500 a year for each member are the goal of the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers' CIO union.

The parent union—third largest in the CIO—left it up to its locals in each company to decide how they want to seek the $500 increase. It could be made up of higher pay, a shorter work week, employer-financed pension and welfare funds, or other economic benefits.

The program was announced yesterday by James J. Matles, the union's director of organization. The union has locals in plants of General Electric, Westinghouse, RCA, Sylvania and other manufacturers. Matles estimated present wages of the union's members average $1.50 an hour.

Conferences on the $500 program by local union representatives will be held within the next two weeks. Later there will be conferences between the union and the companies. Matles said the latter talks will be under wage-reopening clauses in current contracts, which run to next April 1.

The union's general executive board, in urging members to go after the $500 goal, said profits in the industry are so high that prices should be cut and wages raised to combat unemployment and losses in purchasing power.

The union said the industry's net profits were $543,000,000 last year, and were at least as good in the first quarter of this year. The manufacturers, the union charged, have created unemployment through what it called "unheard-of profiteering."

Matles said 90,000 union members—about 10 per cent—are unemployed and about 18 per cent are working part-time in an unemployment trend which started early in 1948.

Demands for cuts in the usual 40-hour work week, he said, would be "to halt the present trend of mounting layoffs, part-time employment and falling weekly earnings."

General Electric, traditional pattern-setter in the electrical industry, announced some time ago it was opposed to another hike in labor costs.

Ohio House Puts Oleo Bill On Ice; Victory For Farmer

By REED SMITH
COLUMBUS, April 28—(AP)—Ohio's rural representatives made it clear today that housewives wanting their oleo yellow can continue coloring it in their kitchens.

House members voted 71-59 Wednesday to table a bill to permit manufacture and sale of colored oleo in Ohio. That virtually scraps the measure senators previously approved. A similar proposal met the same untimely fate two years ago. The house vote to table then was 67-52. It never came back to life.

Proponents—have not—abandoned hope completely but their chances for success appeared slim. Three members changed their votes against tabling so they could ask reconsideration of the motion later. That made the final vote 74-56. Motions to reconsider must be made within two legislative days. Only a majority vote is required on such motions to revive the bill.

Clarence L. Wetzel, Columbiana county representative in the Ohio assembly, cast his vote against the oleo bill Wednesday in the house action tabling the proposal.

Wetzel, a member of the house highways committee, also was among committeemen who opposed recommending passage of the Ohio turnpike bill.

Rep. Wetzel had his desk stacked with oleo bill petitions. He said they bore signatures of 46,000 Ohio farmers demanding protection for butter. They were voluntary and didn't cost hundreds of thousands of dollars spent by oleo people for signatures, he stated.

Others speaking against the oleo bill were Reps. Garland E. Elliott (R-Gallia) and Lee D. Kepner (D-Trumbull).

Sixty-eight votes then would be needed to pass the bill but the original tally on the tabling motion shows proponents were nine votes short.

Death of the bill all but assures that voters will be asked to decide the question next November. The measure came before the legislature by initiative petition. Sponsors obtained more than 200,000 valid signatures. They need only 60,113 more for a referendum on the proposal in the next election.

Rep. Gordon C. Renner (R-Hamilton) indicated the yellow oleo question would be on the ballot this fall. He was one of those switching votes to be able to ask reconsideration. The others were Reps. Bishop Kilpatrick (D-Trumbull) and Mark McElroy (D-Cuyahoga).

The motion to table came from Rep. Paul Hinkle (D-Mercer). It ended nearly two hours of debate by a dozen speakers before others wanting to talk could be heard.

The house also passed a senate-approved bill to tighten mine safety laws and a resolution urging congress to establish a U. S. Air Force academy at Wright-Patterson field near Dayton.

The senate passed bills to ban Turn to OHIO HOUSE, Page 5

Grand Jury To Probe Three Cases Monday

SAYS PAPERS FOUND IN BAG

Miss Coplon's Handbag Yielded Report To Communists, Claim

WASHINGTON, April 28—(AP)—The FBI agent who arrested Judith Coplon and Valentine A. Gubitchev says her purse yielded:

1. A statement telling of efforts to obtain a top secret FBI report.

2. Background statements concerning three potential recruits for espionage service.

3. More than 30 sheets of paper known as data slips containing extracts from FBI reports on internal security matters and suspected espionage agents in this country.

The agent, Robert R. Granville, filed a sworn statement yesterday in justification of the arrest of Miss Coplon and Gubitchev without a warrant.

It was part of the government's reply to a defense motion to bar the prosecution from using the seized papers in Miss Coplon's trial here on espionage charges. She and Gubitchev, a suspended Russian employe of the United Nations, also are under indictment in New York on espionage conspiracy charges.

May Rule Today
Judge Albert L. Reeves of Kansas City, Mo., who is presiding at Miss Coplon's trial, may rule today on the defense motion.

Archibald Palmer of New York, Miss Coplon's attorney, contends the FBI agents seized only Miss Coplon's "private papers." He wants them returned to her, thus preventing their use in her trial. He further contends that Miss Coplon's arrest was illegal because the agents had no warrant.

Granville told in minute detail how agents working under his supervision "shadowed" Miss Coplon, 27, a suspended justice department employe, prior to the arrests in New York March 4.

Granville said this is the "exact language" of a statement found in Miss Coplon's purse:

"I have not been able (and don't think I will) to get the top secret FBI report which I described to Michael on Soviet & Communist intelligence activities in the U. S. When I saw the report, for a minute, I breathed through it rapidly, remember very little. It was about 115 pages in length; summarized first Soviet 'intelligence' activities, including Martens, Lore, Poynts, Altschuler, Silvermaster, et al. It had heading on Soviet UN delegation but that was all I remember. The rest of the report I think was on Polish, Yuro, etc. activities."

CLAIMS ATLANTIC ACT REVIVES WAR ECONOMY IN ITALY

NEW YORK, April 27—(AP)—Claims that the Atlantic pact is reviving Italian war economy and that the Marshall plan is stifling British trade marked the opening last night of Henry Wallace's "peace tour."

Wallace himself confined his remarks to welcoming the four Europeans who will accompany him on the 15-city speaking tour, but two of the Europeans assailed western economic and military alliances.

Michele Guis, Italian Socialist senator, said that for Italy, the Atlantic pact "signifies the return of war economy, reorganization of war industries with all of their evil consequences."

Guia said "all this is happening" because of the Marshall plan, the Atlantic pact, and "the subservience of the De Gasperi government."

H. Lester Hutchinson, member of the British parliament, said the United States through the Marshall plan is "utilizing its economic domination to relieve its own economic difficulties" and restrict British trade competition.

"For example," he said, "Britain now is not permitted to use Marshall aid dollars to buy Canadian wheat—although our trade agreements with the Dominion of Canada are a vital part of our economy."

"American finance is rebuilding the Japanese cotton industry, which will have serious effects on Lancashire. American dollars are developing the German light consumption car industry, although light consumption cars are one of our main exports."

Referring to the fact that the U. S. State department refused to grant entry visas to Konni Zilliacus, of Britain, and Pierre Cot, of France, so they could make the tour with Wallace, Hutchinson said:

"I regret very much that my friend and colleague, Konni Zilliacus, has not been in penetrating the 'Iron Curtain'."

Besides Hutchinson and Guia, Mrs. Mimi Lundin, of Norway, and Mrs. Sonja Branting, of Sweden, are to appear with Wallace on the trip, described by Wallace spokesmen as a peace tour.

BELIEVES IN GOOD FAITH OF NEW ACT

Names New Appointees; Also Outlines What Patronage Requires

WASHINGTON, April 28—(AP)—President Truman gave hopes for lifting of the Berlin blockade a stout boost today.

He told a news conference he believes the Russians are acting in good faith in making their latest proposals, and that he is encouraged by the outlook.

This optimistic note highlighted a new-heavy meeting with reporters in which the President also:

1. Fixed support of the Democratic platform as the test of party loyalty for congress members who expect to share in federal patronage. He said that a member's vote on the administration's bill to repeal the Taft-Hartley act is one of those tests.

In saying this, Truman received a pronouncement from Senator J. Howard McGrath, Democratic national chairman. McGrath said yesterday that loyalty back home, and not votes on Capitol Hill, would be the test on patronage.

2. Announced his choice of Maj. Gen. Philip B. Fleming to be chairman of the maritime commission. Fleming succeeds Vice Adm. William W. Smith, whose term was allowed to expire.

3. Named Jesse Larson, War Assets administrator, to succeed Fleming as Federal Works administrator and Rear Adm. Paul Luker Mather to succeed Larson.

Hopes Calder Will Accept
4. Said he hopes Curtis C. Calder, New York utilities executive, will accept appointment as Secretary of the Army.

5. Said Jonathan Daniels, Raleigh, N. C., editor, is one of those under consideration for Secretary of the Navy.

On the critical Chinese situation, the President was silent except for a stout declaration that the Navy is doing an excellent job, and is fully prepared to remove Americans from war-distressed Shanghai.

The President's remarks on patronage came when he was asked to elaborate on McGrath's statement, made yesterday after a White House conference on patronage and the question of party loyalty.

Truman gave this definition of party loyalty:

Demoats are those people who Turn to BELIEVES, Page 5

In Nice, Round Figures

Since the end of the war in 1945, the national impulse to be generous to veterans without jobs, or who were trying to get started in their own businesses, has cost $3,400,000,000.

Here was one of the most admirable of all federal spending enterprises. Approximately 8,500,000 veterans have benefited from it. More than a million have drawn their entire quota. Many more will have done so before the law expires next July 25. And sooner or later they will have to help make up for the cost.

In similarly nice round figures, this admirable spending plan is equal to the entire income of the federal government in 1935. It is more than twice as much as the average gross debt of the United States between the end of the Civil war and the beginning of World War I. It is as much as all the income tax paid from Pennsylvania in the 12 months ending June 30, 1948. It is enough to run New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Illinois and a baker's dozen of small states for a year. And in the spending total of the federal government it is only a minor item—as minor as all the major items will become if the impulse to be generous with other people's money can't be curbed in Washington, D. C., where nothing of value is produced but where billions are distributed by spenders.

Farewell Party

We were reading the other day about a new television store in Englewood, N. J., which presented gifts to every purchaser of a new set on its opening day. Among the presents were two tickets to a Broadway show and dinner for four at a New York night club.

"It was like the good old days," the story began. In a way it was. And the cash customers probably enjoyed the experience of being wooed again by a storekeeper after years of shortages and seller's markets.

But the give-away was also a sign of the televised future. The theater and night club dividend was a sort of last fling as well as a sales inducement. It represented a gesture by the dealer that was confident as well as gracious. He could make it on the secure assumption that neither theater nor night club would be much competition once the new set was installed.

From now on these suburbanites will be getting most such entertainment in the living room. The bright lights of Broadway will be summoned up by the flick of a switch, and without the attendant bother of traffic, parking, crowds and cover charges.

This free night of entertainment for the new television owners may be only one of a series of last flings. With the spread of television networks Broadway might become more a distribution center for entertainment than the glamorous Mecca of the lively arts. Perhaps people will become as little interested in where their entertainment originates as they now are in which packing plant processed their Sunday roast.

Television must solve plenty of big problems before it becomes a real competitor with the shadow, substance and sound shows. But there is plenty of evidence that the new medium, crude as it may be, is tightening up the family circle, and that video is becoming an important new member of the old team of home and fireside.

Spenders Vs. Investors

The Roosevelt-Truman spenders who are claiming Ohio's Senator Bricker as a key convert to their cause had better take another look. Bricker and his fellow Ohioan, Representative Clarence J. Brown, merely have endorsed a five-year program to aid in the construction of school buildings—a capital investment.

Their reasoning is that federal taxation has drawn off so much local wealth that many communities no longer can afford to give children satisfactory school buildings. With the school-age population certain to increase by leaps and bounds as the war babies flock to the classrooms, an emergency is imminent. Therefore, Bricker and Brown, both noted for resisting the federal drift into bankruptcy, are in favor of diverting $1,280,000,000 for school construction over the next five years.

These men are not converts to the kind of spending developed by the original new dealers and now being whooped up by the warmed-over version. In fact, Senator Bricker has proposed a national commission to study the structure of the federal government, to determine whether or not the states can survive with the federal government taking so large a share of national income. Neither of these men is in favor of wholesale distribution of federal funds. Their decision to support a limited kick-back of federal tax money for investment in public school buildings is as remote from the new deal doctrine of spending as that doctrine is remote from Yankee thrift.

Health Bulletin

Some concern is being felt for the health of President Truman's federal health insurance plan. It is feared that it may have contracted a chill in the sudden change from the warm comfort of the White House to a cool reception on Capitol Hill.

The first week of baseball was real exciting . . . even the White Sox were tied for first place before the opening game.

Then they started playing like White Sox.

The Senators took one game with Truman looking on. Then they started playing like Dewey.

No process servers on the benches yet but the baseball anti-trust action is pending . . . maybe waiting for a mid-season double-header game.

The next monopoly action may come from the lady who lost her biscuit baking spot on television when baseball returned.

Anyway it's a grand game and it's nice to know that when the headlines read "Reds Take Cardinals" no phony trials or fast convictions are involved.

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

Some Allergies Easy To Cure

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

THE patient who suffers from an allergic disorder—hay-fever, hives, asthma—can often be helped by a very simple means. One man, for instance, who was sensitive to animal hair, found that all his symptoms disappeared when he got rid of his shaving brush and began to use an electric razor. Numerous others have been helped simply by banishing feather pillows from the house. A severe case of asthma, due to sensitivity to wood smoke, cleared up entirely when the living room fireplace was put on the inactive list.

But since there is scarcely an item of household use to which one patient or another will not be sensitive, the trick is to find which one is causing the trouble in an individual case. This may require a complete inventory of the patient's surroundings.

In Wooded Area
Even the location of his home is of importance. A house on a tree street will contain more dust than one situated elsewhere. One in a wooded area will contain tree, grass and weed pollens. An allergic patient may have his symptoms brought on by contact with any of these air-borne particles. One patient got immediate relief when he moved from the neighborhood of a furniture factory which happened to use a substance to which he was allergic.

If the patient lives on a farm, search should be made for plant parasites, such as rusts or smuts, which often infect crops, since these may be responsible for allergic disorders in some people.

The pay-off due to an allergic disorder may be found in the age or state of repair of the house in which the patient lives. For example a damp house with decayed wood in the frame work, may be a cause for trouble in patients who are sensitive to molds or yeasts.

A survey of the patient's bedroom should be carried out. Dust may be found, for example, on the tops of window and door casings, in curtains and drapes, around the edges of rugs and on venetian blinds and pictures. Dust can collect on the coils of springs and mattresses and on steel beds.

Wool is another substance to

which many patients may be sensitive. Most household rugs are made of wool. Some patients are sensitive to cattle and horse hair which may be found in carpet pads. Chinese rugs may contain wool, cow hair and even dog hair. Even the lined shirt, commonly used to treat kitchen linoleum, or an oiled silk shower curtain may be a source of trouble.

Thus, it may be seen that the first thing a patient with allergy should do is to attempt to find the substances to which he is sensitive, then a thorough survey of the home should be made so that articles containing the substances to which he is sensitive may be eliminated. In this way, in many instances, the symptoms can, to some extent, be relieved.

Emily Dutko's Troth Revealed At Dinner

The engagement of Emily M. Dutko, daughter of Mrs. Susan Grich of Aetna st., and Robert J. Banar, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Banar of Ohio ave., was revealed at an informal dinner in the Banar home.

The announcement followed a get-acquainted dinner for the two families recently at the Dutko home.

The future bride is a graduate of Salem High school and of the Reading, Pa., St. Joseph's hospital School of Nursing. She is employed on the nursing staff of Salem City hospital. Miss Dutko was formerly on the Crile hospital, Cleveland, staff.

Mr. Banar, who attended schools in Beaver Falls, Pa., is a supervisor in the research department of Goodyear at Akron.

The wedding is being planned for July.

Members of Church Class Entertained

Mrs. George Peterson, teacher, was hostess to members of the H.H.H. class of the First Baptist church Tuesday evening at her home, E. Ninth st.

Misses Dorothy Miller and Kathryn Courtney won honors in the games.

Refreshments were served by the hostess.

A dinner is planned for the May 24 meeting.

Lutherans Arranging Father-Son Banquet

A surprise program will be featured at the Father and Son banquet of Holy Trinity Lutheran church at 6:30 p. m. Friday at the church.

The event is being sponsored by the I. H. S. Bible class.

More than 125 fathers and sons are expected to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Roger W. Briggs of Westville lake have returned from a six-week vacation in Florida.

TIFFIN MAN LOSES 40 LBS. WITH RENNEL

"I cannot say enough for what Rennel has done for me," writes Mr. D. S. Ladd, Box 805, Tiffin, Ohio. "I am 67 years of age. Since taking Rennel I have lost 40 lbs. and feel so much better."

It's simple. It's amazing, how quickly one may lose pounds of bulky, unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this recipe yourself. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. It contains nothing harmful. Just go to your drugist and ask for four ounces of liquid Rennel Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Then take two tablespoonful twice a day. That's all there is to it. If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow the easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloat disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

Chic Pique and Frilly Organdy Wedding Gowns Ready To Promenade

NEW YORK—(NEA)—The cotton-picking bride has a choice of gowns which range from quietly-styled pique to picture-book organdies.

The pique wedding gown will make up in chic what it lacks in frills. Not to be outdone by the traditional do-do of the sheer wedding dress, a pique gown may trail a wondrous train and demand a bouquet of roses and an illusion veil.

Restrained treatment is used to give the full-skirted and trailing gown of Filcol's design (left) its unusual distinctions. White organdy appliques are inset into the skirt and into the off-shouldered collar which softens the severity of a simply-styled, long-sleeved bodice.

Where frills are demanded, cloud-like organdy, is ready to oblige. As breath-taking as billowing lace, marquisette or net, formally-styled organdy gowns are designed to make the bride a vision in white who can carpet a chapel or church aisle with an impressive train. One of Murray Hamburger's design (right) combines plain organdy which makes a full skirt flounce and a sweeping train with eyeleted embroidery used for lace details. The petal-scaled embroidery makes a collar, an apron front, and ruffles angled from collar to flounce.

OBITUARY

JOSEPH F. REDMAN

Joseph F. Redman, 81, retired farmer, died suddenly of a heart ailment at 11 p. m. Wednesday at his home in Calla.

A son of Daniel and Emma Fuhr Redman, he was born Dec. 25, 1867, in Knox township and spent his early life there.

For many years he resided on the Garfield rd., and had spent most of his life in this vicinity. He was a member of the Bethel Reformed church at East Beech.

On Jan. 28, 1893, he was married to Anna Oesch, who died Dec. 23, 1920.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Helen Bogner Redman, whom he married in 1931; one daughter, Mrs. Elsie Mounts of Damascus; three sons, Ernest of Evansville, Ind., Leonard of Damascus, and Arthur of Bridgeport, W. Va.; one sister, Mrs. Mary Lewis of R. D. Beloit; three half-sisters, Mrs. Lola King and Mrs. George Yeagley of Lewistown, and Mrs. Charles Garman of Alliance; one half-brother, George Wagner of Beloit; nine grandchildren and five great-grandchildren. A daughter, Mrs. Roy Slagle, preceded him in death.

Funeral service will be held at 2:30 p. m. Saturday at the Arbaugh-Pearce funeral home in charge of Rev. Gall Bergstresser, pastor of the Calla Evangelical church. Burial will be in Grandview cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home, Friday evening.

DONALD McLANE

LISBON, April 28—Donald W. McLane, 59, of E. Chestnut st., died suddenly at 6:05 p. m. Wednesday while in the Kennedy newsstand here. Death was due to a heart attack.

He had been in ill health for several years.

Born in Lisbon on Sept. 11, 1889, he was the son of William and Nanie McLane. Most of his life had been spent here, but in recent years he had farmed near Leetonia.

Surviving are three sisters, Miss

Mamie McLane of Lisbon, Mrs. Elma Vaughn of Gary, Ind., and Mrs. Hazel Roberts of St. Petersburg, Fla.

The body was removed to the Henry funeral home where friends may call Friday afternoon or evening. Funeral service will be held there at 2 p. m. Saturday, in charge of Rev. Paul T. Garrard. Burial will be in Lisbon cemetery.

Guy near West Point, will be held from the family home at 2:30 p. m. Saturday. Burial will be made in Lisbon cemetery. The body will be taken to the home where friends may call Friday afternoon or evening.

She was born in Lisbon, January 8, 1901, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gamble. She was married to Harry W. Guy in 1920. They had resided in Texas for the past several years.

She had an attack of pneumonia and came to her parents' home in February.

Surviving are her husband, two sons, Paul W. of Big Springs and Robert D. of Freehold, N. J.; her mother and step-father, Mr. and Mrs. Harry G. Guy of R. D. 2, Lisbon; a sister, Miss Ada Gamble of Akron; a brother, Stanton Gamble of East Palestine; a half-brother, William Guy of Lisbon.

DE ZEE INFANT

The son born Tuesday to Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. DeZee of Canfield died at birth in Youngstown Northside hospital.

The mother is the former Jennie Everstine of Salem. Mrs. Pauline Kestler of E. Sixth st. is the grandmother.

Funeral service was held Wednesday at the Williams funeral home in Canfield with burial in the cemetery there.

Boy Burned

CLEVELAND, April 28—A 14-year-old boy was burned seriously last night when a home-made booby trap fashioned from a photographer's flash gun exploded in his face. The trap was laid by Rudolph Lovas, 37, a clerk, whose west side house was ransacked four times in recent months. The gun was placed in a bedroom drawer and set to go off when the drawer was opened six inches.

Jewels Stolen

WARREN, April 28—Jewelry worth $3,000 was stolen from his automobile while in a hotel parking lot, E. J. Malone of Niles, Mich., told police yesterday. Malone, a jewelry salesman, said he left two cases full of gold jewelry in the car trunk.

The Pennsylvania turnpike running from near Pittsburgh to Harrisburg, Pa., is being extended to near Philadelphia, he said. Extension to the Ohio border near Petersburg has been authorized, he added.

O. A. Anderson, executive secretary of the Ohio Dairy Products association, supported the turnpike. He said Ohio's dairy farms now are concentrated in the western part of the state. Farmers move fluid milk to market in tank trucks, much of it going to Philadelphia, Baltimore, Pittsburgh and Washington, he explained.

Speed is essential for such shipments. A turnpike linking Ohio with the eastern seaboard would provide Ohio farmers fast access to those markets. Dairymen make more profit from sale of fluid milk than from butter and this would benefit from a turnpike, he stated.

Rep. Henry W. Deming (R-Licking) and Clarence L. Wetzel (D-Columbiana) opposed the turnpike. They said it would wreck tourist trade business of roadside enterprises.

An amendment by Rep. Mark McElroy (D-Cuyahoga) to add three senators and three representatives to the turnpike commission to serve without pay was thrown out by voice vote.

OHIO HOUSE

pay discrimination because of sex, exempt company-owned power and similar plants from public utilities classification, prohibit corporations from selling auto insurance on the side, and make auto dealers' licenses expire March 31, the same date as their license plates.

Introduced in the senate were bills to prevent transfer of a child's custody without juvenile court consent, charge an extra $1 for special auto license plates, and permit Lawrence county to pay $769 in old debts to 14 creditors.

Rep. Stephen M. Zona (D-Cuyahoga) opened the oleo debate by asserting that restrictions against sale of colored oleo were "aimed at the consumer."

He said the restrictions "began in the interest of a dairy monopoly" which decreed the oleo industry must be eliminated. "They have added to the cost of living," he added.

Rep. Fred Harter (D-Summit) said yellow oleo would cost Ohio's 175,000 dairy farmers a market for 7,000,000 pounds of butter.

Rep. A. G. Herman (R-Auglaize) reported the national average retail price of uncolored oleo was 32 cents a pound and 50 cents for colored oleo in states permitting its sale. Of the 18-cent difference, he said ten cents was federal tax and eight cents the charge for coloring. He asserted the 28 oleomargarine factories in the United States could produce it for 16 cents a pound. There are four such plants in Ohio.

Rep. George M. Hook, Jr. (D-Brown) reported the manufacturers' charge for coloring ranged from two to seven cents a pound. "If housewives are willing to pay two to seven cents a pound to color oleo, I'll charge one cent and color 'very pure' in the state," Hook declared.

Renner displayed a sheet of recent newspaper ads from over the nation. He said they showed that colored oleo sold for the same price as white in many cities.

For George H. Kirkpatrick (R-Knox) said oleo should not be colored so it would remain cheap for consumers.

Rep. William L. Manahan (R-DeWitt) denied that the butter industry had a monopoly on yellow spread. He asserted the cost of production prevented low prices and added that whenever they tended to drop too low, the government stepped in to keep the price up.

support the Democratic platform, which is the law of the party.

He said that votes in support of that platform are a duty imposed on Democratic office holders. He said he is supporting that platform. And he added that he considers votes on Taft-Hartley repeal one of these tests.

Asked what this meant to the southern Democrats who supported the "states rights" ticket last fall, the President suggested that reporters wait and see how this came out.

Truman also reiterated his support of his civil rights program. He said he does not contemplate another message to congress about it since the situation has not changed since he first advocated such a program.

LEWIS GATHERS FOOD FOR BATTLE

Has Facts and Figures To Do Argument With Coal Operators

By PHILLIPS J. PECK
WASHINGTON, April 28.—(INS)—John L. Lewis is stockpiling ammunition for an all-out battle with the coal industry this summer to preserve and enlarge the United Mine Workers welfare fund.

The ammunition will be in the form of facts and figures on the past year's operations of the 100-million-dollar annual welfare program, its accomplishments and objectives.

An intensive survey of the fund is to be made by George Creel, author, publisher and government information chief in World War I.

The U. M. W., in a brief two-sentence announcement last week-end, disclosed that Creel has been retained as consultant and adviser to Miss Josephine Roche, welfare fund director, but did not reveal his duties.

Creel explained them to newsmen. He said:

"I am going to make an intensive survey of the welfare fund, study its operations and what the miners are trying to accomplish. I want to get together the best possible report on the fund."

It is understood that Creel's report will be used by Lewis in negotiations with the mine owners late next month for a new 1949 coal wage contract.

Needs Support
The U. M. W. chief will need plenty of arguments to support his expected demand that the industry double its present 20 cents a ton contribution to the welfare and pension program.

Creel has just arrived in Washington to begin his survey and sat in on two sessions of the U. M. W.'s

Mother Held for Their Beating

A 32-year-old St. Louis, Mo., mother, Mrs. Elva McClary, was arrested for the beating of her two children, Robert, 6, center, and Betty, 8, right. Officer Oliver Wallace holds the small bathroom hose with which, police said, Mrs. McClary beat both children so badly they had to be hospitalized. Mrs. McClary, a waitress whose husband deserted her, said beating the children was "the only way I could make them mind."

200-man policy committee Monday. He said, however, that he would have nothing to do with the wage and hour demands the miners are preparing for the forthcoming contract talks.

Lewis refused to comment on the first two sessions of the policy committee but called a third—and perhaps final—meeting of the group for this afternoon.

The initial sessions were believed to have been devoted to a general discussion of more than 1,000 resolutions submitted to the union's 1948 convention and to its scale committee dealing with contract issues.

In the resolutions, the mine workers made known their desire for a six-hour-day and a 30-hour week; a guaranteed wage of $15 a day and $75 a week; a guaranteed minimum of 200 days of work annually and pay for that number of days, if worked or not; two full weeks of vacation and $250 vacation pay.

The policy committee presumably reached no decision at the first two meetings, but Lewis may submit a definite program to the group today for ratification.

HELP!

There's help waiting at a moment's notice for today's homemakers. Cheap, dependable help, ready and willing to work around the clock and calendar, to bring you the comforts of electric living.

Yes, even the most modest homes have hired help—wired help—to ease the drudgery of housework, to cook and wash and sew and clean, at a moment's notice.

Yet electricity costs so little! The skill and experience of your friends and neighbors in this company make electricity the biggest bargain in your family budget. Sound business management helped. So did your own wider use of electric service. Because electricity—strange as it may seem—is the only helper who gets paid less for working overtime!

Ohio Senator, of Economy Group, Puts Up Bill To Spend Billion

WASHINGTON, April 28—(AP)—
Two congress members have introduced legislation to authorize a five-year $1,280,000,000 program of aid to states for construction of schools.

Identical bills were presented in the senate yesterday by Senator
Bricker (R-Ohio) and in the house
by Rep. Clarence J. Brown (R-Ohio).

They acted as the senate made ready to take up still another federal aid for education bill and a companion school health measure.

Under the health measure, the federal government would give the states $35,000,000 a year to help finance medical and dental examinations and other health care for all school children.

The education bill pending before the senate authorizes $300-000,000 annually in federal aid for teachers salaries and other school operating expenses, but no money for construction.

Bricker has said he is opposed to that bill. He voted against a similar measure which passed the senate last year.

The Bricker-Brown construction bill would provide $250,000,000 for each of five years. It also would authorize $30,000,000 for a survey to determine states' need for school

In Quartet Contest Tomorrow

The Mile Branch grange quartet, national grange winners in 1945 and state grange winners in '46, will be among the quartets singing in the Junior Chamber of Commerce-sponsored male quartet contest Friday evening at the High School. Seated: Dale Allison and Frederick Schoeni; standing: Richard Howenstine and Dale Schoeni.

construction and to set up state programs.
States would be required to contribute from 10 to 60 per cent of the cost of their programs, depending on the ratio of the state's school population.

However, no state would receive less than $300,000 a year in construction funds from the federal government.

In a joint statement, Bricker and Brown said they were introducing their bill because "we recognize the fact that too many of the children of this nation are spending their school days in outmoded, unsanitary, unattractive and, in some cases, dangerously unsafe school buildings."

The Bricker-Brown measure has a civil rights provision which would bar any discrimination among population groups.

Soloist To Sing
Scandinavian Airs

Miss Agnes Sundgren, lyric soprano of New York City, who offers a program of Scandinavian folk-songs, at 8:15 tomorrow at the First Presbyterian church was heard in city programs today. Miss Sundgren sang for a High school assembly this afternoon. The singer appears in the costumes of the northland countries, tells the story of each song, and accompanies herself at the piano. The repertoire she will sing at the Presbyterian church
Friday night follows:

"Where You There?" (Negro spiritual); "Liebestraum," Liszt-Schlipa;
"The Nightingale and the Rose," Rimsky-Korsakoff; "Miranda," Hageman.

"Chere Nuit," (Dearest Night).
Bachellet; "Si Mes Cers Avalent des Ailes," (Were My Song With Wings Provided) Hahn; "Ouvre Ton
Coeur," (Open Thy Heart) Bizet.

Appears In Costume
"Hur Skall Man Bruden Klads?"
(How Shall the Bride Dress?) Lindberg; "Liten Prins in Vagga" (Little Prince in Cradle) Sjogren;
"Schwieger Sang" (Solveig's Song)
Grieg; "En Drom," (A Dream)
Grieg.

Scandinavian Folk-songs — Miss Sundgren will accompany herself for this group and relate the story of each song.

'Dungeon' Dweller

Paul Makushak, 32, was freed by New York police from a three-by-five-foot room where, they said, his mother had sealed him 14 years ago to keep him from being drafted into military service. The six-foot tall college-educated police said he "lost mind" during his long imprisonment. He was freed when neighbors called police after his mother, Mrs. Anna Makushak, who said her son went to a hospital.

Union Council Backs Conveyor Line Utility

CLEVELAND, April 28—(AP)—The Cleveland Industrial Union council yesterday voted its full support for the proposed $210,000,000 130-mile Lorain-to-East Liverpool conveyor belt.

In voting the endorsement recommended by the CIO United Rubber Workers, the CIO central body here urged all delegates and affiliated unions to send letters to the Ohio legislature requesting support of the project. About 125,000 workers are represented by the council.

Riverlake Belt Conveyor Lines, Inc., has asked the state legislature to give the belt line public utility status, enabling it to acquire right-of-way by eminent domain. Several railroads and railroad brotherhoods have opposed the conveyor plan.

BIG TRUCKS

and 4,000 trucks" were halted throughout the state.

A Cleveland newspaper employee who traveled from Youngstown to Cleveland last night on Routes 18 and 14 said he counted up to 400 parked trucks and then gave up. There were at least 200 more, he estimated.

"We want a fair weight law," Nicholson said in explaining the truck owners' action. "We don't ask a law which would permit overloaded trucks to ruin the highways. We have to use those highways, too."

"The laws as they are applied do not permit us to use the heavy equipment we bought during the war, and which is the best equipment for long hauling. Our backs are being forced to the wall."

"This holiday was called to bring to the attention of the public the problems that face us."

The United Truck Owners of America, Inc., is made up of men who drive their own trucks under motor freight company operating leases. It claims a membership of 7,500 in Ohio, including a majority of the state's independent truckers.

Shortage Is Among Elementary Teachers

COLUMBUS, April 28—(AP)—The critical shortage of school teachers in the elementary field, not high schools, a nation-wide survey maintains.
Ray C. Maul, research associate of the National Education Association, gave the report yesterday before the American Association of Collegiate Registrars convention here.
Maul, also dean of State Teachers college, Emporia, Kans., said the shortage of well-trained elementary teachers is likely to continue for another 10 years.
Colleges are graduating large numbers of students eligible for high school teaching permits, Maul said. But colleges are not placing enough emphasis on elementary teaching, he added.
In many states, the research associate reported, the people are willing to put up the money to attract well-trained teachers.
Maul based his report on data taken from colleges and state educational departments in 41 states. He claimed his report was 86.5 percent accurate of the entire national public teaching situation.

The Nation Today

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON—(AP)—Lift the lid on the argument over a government health program and you find this:
It is not an argument over whether the government should interest itself in health. There is a government health program now.
The problem is how far should such a program, backed with government money and some government control, be allowed to go.
This will give you an idea of how deep the government already is involved—in a limited way—in helping the nation's health:
1.—It is giving states up to $75,000,000 a year to help them build hospitals; it gives states money to strengthen their public health services; it gives states money for mother and child care and to help crippled children; it is spending money on research in cancer, dental, heart and venereal diseases.
2.—In addition, 18½ million veterans are eligible for care in government hospitals; every veteran with a service-connected disability is entitled to complete care for that disability at home or in a government hospital; there are 26 government marine hospitals for the care of merchant seamen and the coast guard; men in the armed services and their dependents get medical care; and some government agencies have their own medical programs. The government operates more than 200,000 hospital beds.
BOTH PRESIDENT Truman and those who oppose his ideas on a national health program are pretty generally agreed it is necessary to expand No. 1 with even more and wider government help.
But it is on the next part of Truman's program—national compulsory health insurance—that the President and his opponents disagree.
Says the President "It is no longer just the poor who are unable to pay for all the medical care they need—such care is now beyond the means of all but the upper income groups."

(Forty-five per cent of all families in the United States have incomes of less than $3,000 a year. And 22 per cent have incomes under $2,000.)
So Truman wants the people to have health insurance through a tax on payrolls, just as they pay for their social security benefits.
Who'd be covered? Employees, and the self-employed, and their dependents, pretty completely. How big a tax?
Three per cent on a payroll, with 1½ paid by the workers, 1½ paid by the employer, on salaries up to $4,800. Example:
Jones makes $10,000. He'd be taxed only up to $4,800. It would be $138 a week for him and his family. The boss would pay an equal sum.
IF JONES MADE only $2,000 a year, the tax would be 57 cents a week on him and the same on his employer. The self-employed would pay the full three per cent. The government would also contribute.
Doctors, wouldn't have to take part if they didn't want to. They could choose their own patients. Patients could choose their doctors.
Truman and his supporters say the program could be carried out with a minimum of government interference.

They argue this kind of compulsory insurance is the only way to be sure all the people get decent medical care.
But the opponents contend the Truman program would put far too much control in the government's hands. They want people, if they're going to take part in health insurance programs, to go into the voluntary kind.
The Truman supporters argue the voluntary programs are not complete enough. Truman says:
"Most voluntary plans give only very limited protection. . . Only 3½ million of our people have insurance which provides anything approaching adequate health protection."
But Truman's lieutenants don't expect congress to pass the health insurance program—at this season, at least.

CONGRESSMEN SAY LAUSCHE IS AFTER SAME JOB AGAIN

By BRUCE BROSSAT
AP Special Washington Service
WASHINGTON, April 28—(AP)—Two Ohioans in congress said privately today they believe Gov. Frank Lausche of Ohio will stay out of the senate race against Senator Taft (R-Ohio) next year and run for governor a third time.

Neither congressman would permit use of his name. But both are members of the Democratic house delegation.

The issue of Lausche's 1950 intentions has become a major topic of speculation among Ohio Democrats since reports first spread that the two-time Ohio governor planned to run for his party's senatorial nomination in the hope of bucking Taft at the polls.

Rep. McSweeney, one of 12 Ohio Democrats in the house, said several days ago that he himself would be a candidate for senator—provided Lausche did not run.

One Democrat told a reporter he is convinced Lausche will not run for the senate because he says the governor stands a better chance of increasing his national stature by taking the governorship a third time.

"If Lausche can win as governor by a big margin, as he might very well do," the congressman said, "it would add much more to his prestige than beating Taft, even though Taft is a national figure."

He added that as senator Lausche would be "just one of 96 members" in the capital and would find it hard to lay the groundwork speedily for any Presidential aspirations he might have.

"But as a three-time governor with demonstrated vote-getting ability and experience in executive office, he'd be in a far better position," the Democrat said.

The feeling among house Ohioans is that the 1950 senatorial primary in Ohio will be wide open if Lausche stays out.

Besides McSweeney, it is reported that likely candidates include Mayor Thomas Burke of Cleveland and Joseph T. Ferguson, state auditor.

FAIRFIELD

The Good Will club meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Rice on May 5, instead of May 3, as previously announced.

Paul Neville, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Neville, submitted to an appendectomy at Salem City hospital, Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Clunen, Leetonia, and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Farmer were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Theron Caldwell.

Mr. and Mrs. Vaughn Nichols of Salem were Saturday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Bell.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Kleon and Mr. and Mrs. Steve Zenko of Salem enjoyed Sunday dinner with the ladies' grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Sponseller.

Condition Improved
Mrs. Harvey Brubaker, who has been ill for several weeks from erysipelas, is now able to be around in a wheelchair. Recent visitors in the Brubaker home were Mr. and Mrs. Russell Kobay, Rev. and Mrs. Stephen Yoder, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Swope, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Royer, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Martin, Mesdames Homer Schaeffer, Stevin Blosser, Viola and Elwood Porney, Leo Rice, Mrs. Vertie Detroit and daughter, Doris, Mrs. Eav Kurta, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Clark.

Mrs. Olyn Boyle and daughter Ann, of Marietta, are spending the week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Willis Rupert.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Culler and daughters were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Klingerman of North Jackson.

Mr. and Mrs. Stevin Blosser attended a shower in the American Legion home, Sunday, honoring Mr. and Mrs. Leo Horst, newlyweds. Gifts were presented the honorees and lunch was served.

Attendance High
A record attendance of 274 were present at the morning services on Easter Sunday at the East Fairfield Methodist church. Rev. C. E. Richardson, pastor, officiated at the baptismal service when 14 children were presented. The church and Sunday school offerings of $1,664.00 were given to the building committee for completion of its program. A dedication service is planned for early summer. On Palm Sunday a group of 34 people was received into the church.

The Fairfield Music Boosters club and families enjoyed a covered dinner in the school cafeteria last Wednesday evening. This being the last meeting of the school year, officers were elected: O. C. Chellis.

Can you use some cash at this time to pay left-over winter bills? To buy New Clothes? To fix up your home or tune-up your car? To buy a new car or for any other purpose? If so, just come in or phone for a loan, $25 to $1000. Prompt, Private Service.

P.T.A. Ends Season

The last meeting of the P.T.A. for the current year was held in the school auditorium last Tuesday evening. Mr. Robert Smith, program chairman, presented the grade and Junior High pupils in vocal and instrumental numbers.

A forum, "Influence in the Home, School and Church," was presented by Mrs. Curney Converse, speaking on the home. Supt. T. V. Utterback on the school and Mrs. A. R. Brown on the church.

Mrs. Floyd Sidwell spoke on "Health." Miss Loretta Greenstein read an essay on "Recreation," prepared by Miss Elsie Lutsch. The officers elected are Mrs. Curney Converse, president; Mrs. Donald Rupert, vice president; Mrs. H. F. Mathuren, secretary; Mrs. Roy Cope, treasurer.

WANTS AUTHORITY TO MAKE TRIALS

WASHINGTON, April 28—(AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Brannan told congress today he would like immediate authority to use the hog market for a "trial run" of the administration's proposed new farm program.

Meanwhile, he fired back at those who have labelled this suggested program "socialism" or "regimentation."

The program stresses cheaper food for consumers. It would let many food products, like pork, sell at what the market would bring. Then the government would pay the farmers the difference between what their crop brought and what the government established as a fair price.

This differs broadly from the present program which requires the government to purchase or make loans on surplus farm production to hold the surplus off the market and thereby prevent undue price declines.

Brannan already had said it is likely that the government soon will have to start buying hogs to support the price.

During a session of the house agriculture committee, now studying the administration new farm program, Rep. Worley (D-Tex.) asked the secretary if he would like for congress to give him immediate authority for a trial run of the new plan on hogs.

"I would welcome it," Brannan replied.

Earlier Brannan said a bill covering the general program is ready and will be submitted to congress as soon as budget officials have approved it.

According to connoisseurs, the rule for serving red and white wines at banquets is that red wines always should be served at room temperature while white wines, especially champagnes, should be chilled.

Cuplets' precision blend of finest ingredients gives you cup cakes that are light and tender at every baking. Easy, too. Just add an egg and milk.

DE-SPOOKING GOOD BUSINESS FOR THIS HOLLYWOOD MISSUS

HOLLYWOOD, April 28.—(UP)—A pretty young housewife who specializes in "de-spooking haunted houses" reported today there are enough ghosts in Hollywood's plushy mansions to keep her in business for years to come.

These aren't the Halloween kind. They're not even romantic ghosts. Evie Beddoe goes after household haunts—like leaky faucets and sagging floors—and movie queens have troubles with these just like anybody.

That's where Mrs. Beddoe comes in with her "Information Unlimited."

All a glamour gal has to do is pay $10 a year and Mrs. B. produces anything they need—from a carpenter to a bargain in fur-lined bathroom accessories.

"To any housewife a drippy faucet or a broken window is a household ghost," she explains. "My friends were always phoning me for the name of a good plumber . . . or a man who'd clean their rugs . . . or a bakery that specialized in fancy cakes."

Carries On

Mrs. Beddoe used to tell 'em—free. Now she does it for a fee. And her business is catching on all over town.

"I have thousands and thousands of firms in my file," she said, "and I didn't get those out of my telephone book. No merchant gets on my records until he's been recommended by one of my friends and then tested by me or my partner, Actress Rose Hobart."

Then when a client—and they include brides on a budget as well as movie stars—calls in, Mrs. Beddoe gives out with the name of a good man to handle their household haunts.

"Be they in need of a new stove, a Burmese elephant, or a baby sister, I know the best ones," she says. "But now and then something stumps me."

CHENNAULT WARNS OF FAR EAST

Says War Will Develop There Far Sooner Than In West

(Maj. Gen. Claire L. Chennault, wartime commander of the Flying Tigers in China, arrived in San Francisco by plane from Canton after seeing the Communists drive into the heart of China. Enroute to Washington, he warns that Communists may soon dominate the Pacific.)

By MAJ. GEN. CLAIRE L. CHENNAULT
Written expressly for International News Service.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 28.—(INS)—The situation in China and the whole Far East is so dangerous, so complicated, and yet so far from being hopeless, that I might not be helping my own United States government and my friends the Chinese people, if I express personal opinions about solutions before reporting to Washington first.

But I will say just this much: Events in the Far East are driving us into world war three far more surely and swiftly than events in Europe.

If that trend continues, our people on the Pacific coast can be sure that World War III will begin with the Pacific dominated by the Communists.

A new military and economic menace has risen in the Pacific far more powerful than the menace of Japan, which we fought the Pacific war to eliminate.

The whole tragedy is the result of our own blundering. But it is time to stop arguing among ourselves and being stiff-necked about theories, and proudly defensive about the blunders we have already made, whether those blunders were pro-Communist or pro-Nationalist.

It is time now to agree on a program that is just pro-American. It is time to unite on an American program of flexible, ingenious, improvising, practical action—the same kind of action with which, once before, we reversed disaster in the Pacific worse than it is now. And I have seen us turn it around and win.

It is time for the United States to accept the leadership in world-wide resistance to Communism—not just European resistance—so that the people of Asia can maintain their freedom also.

The Communist conquest of China and of Asia will not serve the interests of the United States and our foreign policy should be based upon the best interests of our country as well as the best interests of all the other peoples of the world.

WINONA

Members and families of the local Wilbur Friends' meeting will hold the monthly dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Satterthwaite Sunday.

Following the basket dinner there will be a short program and social period.

Pork And Lamb Prices Ease Little; Others Hold Steady

By The Associated Press

Pork and lamb prices eased a little at many retail stores this week. Other meats held mostly steady.

Top grade eggs were up two cents a dozen in some places, reflecting more active commercial and government buying. Most fresh vegetables, with the exception of sweet corn, sweet potatoes and new potatoes, were lower.

Some pork cuts declined as much as 6 cents a pound in large supermarkets. Meat buyers said demand for pork was easing as the weather became warmer and competition from spring lambs and vealers increased.

Lamb chop prices continued the slow descent from the record high levels of two weeks ago as receipts picked up. Reductions on choice loin chops this week ranged as high as 10 cents a pound in some market centers. Veal prices tended to work slightly lower with the arrival of spring vealers.

Beef was unchanged.

In the produce department, brisk demand for sweet corn from Florida pushed the price upward. Produce buyers said the corn was the best quality for this time of the season in several years. Although Florida was shipping much larger amounts than usual, the supply is inadequate.

New Potatoes High

New potatoes were a little higher this week because rainy weather in Texas and Alabama curtailed harvesting, an agriculture department spokesman said. This left Florida and California to carry the major supply load at a time when demand was growing steadily.

However, vegetables like spinach, kale, parsley, radishes, scallions and leeks were reported becoming so plentiful and low priced that growers were having difficulty breaking even on costs. Asparagus and peas also were lower-price leaders.

Other food notes: Legislation to repeal federal taxes on oleomargarine came one more step nearer passage when the senate finance committee approved the house-passed bill and sent it to the senate. There was no indication when the senate might vote on the bill as other legislation has priority.

State Secretary Malcolm McCabe of the Massachusetts Retail Grocers and provision dealers said the current "inflated" wholesale price of pork loins is too high and must come down. He said housewives and retailers are no economists, but they both know when "the price of a basic commodity goes beyond the reach of the family budget."

President Carlton Crawford of the National Fisheries Institute reported that shippers bought 10,000,000 more pounds of fresh and frozen fisheries products during the first three months this year than in the like 1948 quarter.

The agriculture department announced the following foods as among those most plentiful for the coming month: Carrots, potatoes, canned corn and peas, dried beans and peas, canned citrus juices, grapefruit sections, dried prunes and raisins.

Also, eggs, butter, evaporated milk, cheese, both fresh and frozen fish, oatmeal, corn meal and syrup, honey and peanut butter.

The Dun & Bradstreet wholesale food price index eased one cent from last week to $5.57—a level just one cent above the February 8 index which was a 28-month low. A year ago the index was 16-1 per cent

Make Changes In Tax Commission Structure

COLUMBUS, April 28—The state tax commissioner today made changes in the Ohio sales tax machinery to save an estimated $10,000 to $20,000 a year.

Commissioner C. Emory Glander said the district sales tax offices in Lima, Portsmouth and Steubenville and the sub-district office in Canton would be closed.

Under the revised setup, the sales tax will be administered in nine districts with headquarters at Toledo, Dayton, Cincinnati, Norwalk, Columbus, Zanesville, Akron, Cleveland and Youngstown.

Glander said the savings would come from rent, telephone and other service charges and from reduced pay rolls.

Most of the personnel in the offices being abolished will be transferred to other offices, Glander said.

Toledo Senator Offers Tax Plan

COLUMBUS, April 28—(AP)—A Toledo senator today offered a compromise state sales' tax proposal that would eliminate stamps and would boost the take about $25,000,000 a year.

The proposal was presented to the senate taxation committee by Sen. Robert C. Ragan, a Democrat.

The proposal bears the approval of the administration of Gov. Frank J. Lausche, Ragan said.

It was offered as a substitute for the gross receipts tax bill authored by Sen. Emmett R. Guthrie (D-Cochran).

The new bill was prepared by Senators Nicholas P. Bernard and Clingman Jackson, Youngstown Democrat.

The present pre-paid stamp system would be dropped under the compromise. The bill also carries a new tax bracket that would substitute for the present 40-cent minimum now in effect.

Ragan's proposal would set up a tax of one cent on purchases of 15 to 49 cents. Under 15 cents would be exempt. A tax of two cents on purchases of 50 to 83 cents, with three cents on 84 to $1.14 would be levied. It also removes exemptions now held on cigarettes, beer, wine and liquor.

The sponsors said shelving the stamps would save $10,000,000 in administration costs.

DEPARTMENT OF CONJECTURE

Once again the question has arisen whether schools should be allowed to hold spring football practice. This time it comes from the athletic director at Steubenville High, one of the schools that held practices this spring.

It seems that football, the financial father of all the rest of scholastic sports in this state, is destined to absorb a continual beating from the powers that be.

For some reason football is the sport always attacked with new regulations as to when you can start, when you can stop and what you can do while you're doing it. It's all nonsense as far as this corner can see.

Statistics compiled over the years consistently prove that basketball is probably more harmful to more boys than football. Baseball, too, takes a high toll and so does track, especially when a youngster over-trains to the point of damaging his heart. And yet there is no limitation on the practices in baseball, track and basketball.

About the only regulation put forth on basketball in Ohio is that students can't play in independent tournaments after the regular season and be eligible for competition next year. And yet there is nothing in the regulations to keep a basketball coach from practicing his squad the year around if he so desires. He is limited now on games, however.

It all boils down, of course, to the fact that the coaches in the other sports, as well as the administrators, feel that football could crowd the other sports, particularly baseball and track, right out of the picture. It's that popular with the kids and fans.

The arguments for and against spring football, of course, are endless. This corner believes it should be a matter left entirely to the discretion of the coach involved. Some coaches like that 30-day period in the spring far more than the added two weeks in the fall.

There are those mentors who contend that spring is the only time a boy can really be worked in tournaments. For it is then, the argument goes, that there is no approaching game pressure to divert the attention of the players and the staff.

Others, on the opposite side, maintain that waiting until Sept. 1 to open fall practice is too late. They say they haven't time to get a team ready for that first game.

Both have good points. But as far as the arguments go, we feel they all point to the fact that it's a problem for the individual coach to decide. If he wants it, let 'em have it. If not, okay.

DEPARTMENT OF INFO

One of the largest coaching schools in history, the Paul Brown clinic for scholastic and college coaches, will be held in Cleveland May 6 and 7.

Salem's coaching staff, including Ben Barrett, Joe Kelley, Bud Dean, Cy Lipaj, Ward Zeller and Troy Penner, will be in attendance. The week following that clinic Barrett and Lipaj will take in Wes Fessler's event at Columbus.

The Cleveland event features the Paul Brown pro staff, Sid Gillman of Cincinnati, Branch Rickey of the Brooklyn branch and numerous other interesting and informational speakers. The football classes go on all day Friday and through Saturday noon.

ODDS AND ENDS

Just to keep the record straight it might be well to mention that John Cabas will not take on the cage duties at Elyria, as was rumored. John will get a new man there, a cage specialist, to handle the top cage job and help out in football.

New Philadelphia, opening game foe for the Salem Quakers this fall played a scrimmage game with Massillon this spring. Chuck Mather reports that Philly, though green in the game against his Tigers, looks like a comer. Chuck says the Philly line is big and fast, but reports that the ends were pretty weak. He warns Ben to be ready for a tough foe by fall.

Kelley Calls Manager

Meeting Friday Night

A meeting of prospective Class B softball managers will be held at 7:30 p. m. Friday in the Memorial building, Joe Kelley announced today.

Kelley, league manager, will attempt to organize the loop at that time.

He also reminded Class A managers that they have only until Sunday to meet the May 1 deadline for submitting their team rosters.

But somebody apparently forgot to tell Ask, a recent importation managed by Dempsey, about the

Coon Dog Field Trials Planned Sunday By Club

The fourth annual spring coon dog field trial, sponsored by the Salem Hunting Club, will be held Sunday at the Bacon Country club. A guaranteed final purse of $200 has been set up by the club.

Junior and senior dogs are to be run separately in elimination and semi-final heats with both classes running together for the final purse.

Other purses are: $70 first tree $50 second tree, $50 first line, $30 second line; $12 heat purse, $5 first tree, $4 first line and $3 second line. Don Cannon, club secretary, who is in charge of registration, announced that the entry fee is $3 and entries will close at noon Sunday. Entries are expected from Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Indiana, as well as Ohio.

Wilford Stratton is field marshal for the trials and Lon Boring, county game warden, will be the auctioneer. Spectators are welcome to the field trials.

Philadelphia A Cinch To Get Grid Classic
—Philadelphia appeared a sure bet today as the site for the 1949 Army-Navy football game—and maybe for the 1950 and 1951 editions of the classic, too.
"All obstacles to holding the game in Philadelphia next fall have been removed," Mayor Bernard Samuel said.
The city will "make every effort" Samuel said, to have included in the 1949 contract a provision that the classic also be held in Philadelphia's Municipal stadium "in future years."

Key Men Hurt In Day Of Bad Tidings For Pennant Seeking Major Loop Clubs

Injuries to Stan Rojek, Bob Elliott and Lou Boudreau, all key men in the major league pennant races, overshadow the scores in today's baseball news.

Rojek's injury may be the most important. If the Pittsburgh shortstop, the "hustle guy" of Bill Meyer's infield, is lost for any appreciable time, the Pirates' pennant hopes go a-glimmering.

A pitched ball by Ken Johnson, fifth St. Louis Pitcher, struck Rojek near the left eye in the ninth inning last night at Sportsman's park. Early reports from the hospital indicated no fracture.

The incident took most of the sting out of the Pirates' 7-1 victory over the Cardinals. It should have been a big night for the Pirates because Murry Dickson, the ex-Cardinal who was purchased for $125,000 last winter, faced his old mates for the first time.

Dickson, pitching like a man with a mission, was given a nice cushion in the first inning when the Pirates greeted Bowler Pollet with five straight singles. Pollet was replaced by Ted Wilks before he got anybody out in the four-run first inning.

After that it was duck soup for Dickson who threw a seven-hitter. The win put the Buccos in a first place tie with the New York Giants for the National league lead.

The Boston Braves' hopes of repeating as National league champs took a sharp drop when Third Baseman Elliott was hit on the knee and carried off the field at Elyria park. The big power man of the Boston attack was felled by a line drive off the bat of Puddin' Head Jones, the Phillies sensational rookie. Later it developed Elliott's injury was not considered serious.

Despite Elliott's accident, the Braves shut out the Phils, 2-0, on a fine three-hit effort by Warren Spahn.

Boudreau was forced to leave the Cleveland-Chicago White Sox afternoon game when hit on the left elbow by Pitcher Orval Grove. X-ray pictures showed the injury apparently was only a bruise. Absence of Boudreau, even for a few games, would have been a vital blow at the World Champion Indians' chances of winning another American league flag.

Cleveland went on a batting spree to ruin the Chicago Sox, 11-3 with Mickey Vernon, the ex-Washington first sacker, and Ken Keltner hitting home runs.

The New York Yankees' march was rudely interrupted at Washington when the win-starved Senators came from behind to break a seven-game losing streak, 4-3 in 10 innings. The Nats scored three in the ninth after Alie Reynolds pitched shutout ball for 2 2/3 innings.

Glyde Volmer's triple was the big blow. In the extra frame, Washington hung the loss on Fireman Joe Page. Pitcher Forest Tompkins doubled, took third on Ralph Houk's error and scored on Sam Dente's single.

Another seven-game losing streak was broken when the St. Louis Browns shaded the Detroit Tigers, 4-3 in 12 innings with Karl Drews, the Yankee castoff, outpitching Hal Newhouse.

Vern (Junior) Stephens had a big batting day for the Boston Red Sox in a 10-6 romp over the Philadelphia A's. Stephens hit two homers and a single, driving in five runs.

National league day action was featured by the New York Giants' 1-8 win over Brooklyn in a wild contest at the Polo grounds. Rookie Pete Milne's pinch homer with the bases loaded helped the Giants come from behind after blowing a 6-0 lead.

Johnny Vander Meer fell victim of an old ailment—windness—when Chicago's Cubs turned into a six-run rally and an 8-3 victory over Cincinnati.

Yesterday Stars
Batting—Vern Stephens, Red Sox—Hit two homers and single, driving in five runs as Boston downed Athletics, 10-6.
Pitching—Warren Spahn, Braves—Shut out Philles with three hits, 2-0.

Pinehurst, N. C.—The four favorites in the North and South women's amateur golf tournament—Grace Lennox, Marjorie Ludsey, Peggy Kirk and Mrs. Estelle Layson Page—advanced to semi-final.

Newmarket, England—Nimbus, 19 to 1, boxed out favored Abernant in classic 2,000 guineas one mile fixture for three-year-olds.

"We Want To Go Home", Cry Of Homeless Israel Arabs

By ALBURN D. WEST
CASA, Southern Palestine—(AP)—
"We want to go home."
That is the beginning and end of the message from an estimated 740,000 homeless Arab villagers, farmers and nomadic bedouins to the outside world.

Their pleas bombard the ears of a group of correspondents inspecting the American Friends' committee project for distributing United Nations food relief in Southern Palestine.

From these cries may echo in final Arab-Israel peace conferences and even in United Nations halls.

The present relief program for which the U. S. congress recently voted $10,000,000 ends Aug. 31.

What will happen then? The only answer Friends officials have is a shudder. They are reluctant to discuss the subject.

For the Egyptians and Maj. Gen. Fudhul Badkhan, commander of that country's forces in Southern Palestine, this problem and solution are simple.

"President Truman is responsible for the refugee problem. He is the only man who can solve it."

For two days the correspondents looked at pitiful panoramas of refugees huts, tents, caves and hovels. They saw masses of humanity standing patiently in line waiting for rations, in crowds and groups along streets of towns and camps.

Thanks to a hardy race their health is good. There is little or no sanitation. Medical care is woefully inadequate. Men, women and children are receiving an average of 1,750 calories daily.

They get wheat, flour, beans, dates, sugar, oil, margarine and meat. All children under 14 years receive one liter of milk per day. The milk is provided in powdered form by the United Nations children's emergency food program and mixed at distributing stations.

A band of 41 Friends committee volunteers and workers aided by 300 refugee clerks, translators, laborers and guards, is feeding the refugees. Rations for two weeks are distributed by families. The distribution is methodical and efficient. The Friends even observe Friday, the Moslem day of rest and respect all Moslem customs.

At Khan Yunis food center, a camp of 60,000 refugees, about a thousand men, women and children gathered around the auto conveyer and began their shouts and cries. They tugged at the visitors' shirt sleeves.

Years streaked across dusty cheeks. Old men made speeches. The next day at Rafah on the Southern Palestine border, where 65,000 refugees are housed, a similar demonstration occurred. Always the cry was the same: "We want to go home."

There is a pathetic attempt to maintain old way of life. Make-shift shelters near tent villages are coffee houses—many without coffee. Old men and young sit around ground projects going in four of the seven camps. Foraging for equipment has provided soccer fields, horseshoe courts and volleyball courts.

The limited friendstaff of American, Swedish, Swiss, French, Dutch, Finnish, Belgian and English workers do not have time to provide occupational projects. And if they did, they explain, there is no equipment or money to buy it.

A few refugees work in a little carpenter shop. Half of them make their and the other half go to the refugees.

Dr. Abd El Hamid Zaki, Egyptian educator, is tackling the problem of education. Schools now have been provided for 20,000 children and Dr. Zaki hopes to raise the total to 20,000 soon.

As many as 17 persons live in one tent. In one of the adobe (mud) houses, correspondents saw six families totaling 27 men, women and children crowded into three rooms.

Despite this crowding and lack of sanitation, the fatal disease incidence is low. There are no reliable death rate figures. But Dr. Jerome Peterson believes it is low. In cooperation with local health authorities he is opening clinics as fast as quarters and staffs can be obtained.

Teams are spraying DDT through the camps.

A count is underway now as part of this food distribution. As each ration card is given out a permanent file card is made for headquarters. When completed, the census will provide valuable information for those who must finally face the solution of the Arab refugee problem.

HOUSE SPY HUNT MAKES PROGRESS

By W. R. HIGGINBOTHAM
WASHINGTON, April 29—(UP)—
House spy hunters summoned an admitted Communist agent and three scientists today in a new effort to determine whether Russia got a set of U.S. atom bomb secrets.

All three of the scientists called as witnesses by the house un-American Activities committee worked at the radiation laboratory of the University of California in Berkeley during World War II.

They are Joseph Weinberg, now of the University of Minnesota, Giovanni Lomnini of Oak Ridge, Tenn., and David H. Bohm of Princeton.

Summoned with them was Steve Nelson, Communist organizer in western Pennsylvania, who figured in California's "Scientist X" mystery and an unexplained contact with a Russian official in San Francisco in the spring of 1943.

Cites Instance
According to testimony cited in a committee report last October, "Scientist X" visited Nelson's home in San Francisco six years ago. This scientist, whose name was withheld after he denied the whole story, allegedly delivered a "formula of importance" in the development of the A-bomb, the committee report said.

Several days later, according to the same report, Nelson met a Russian vice consul on the grounds at St. Francis hospital in San Francisco and was seen to give him something. The committee report implied that the formula was passed to the Russian.

Called before the committee last year, Nelson refused to testify. But he admitted to reporters that he is a Communist agent.

The un-American Activities committee opened its espionage hearings yesterday with testimony concerning the American Slav congress. Committee Chairman John S. Wood (R) of Georgia said sessions will be held this week as well as the week of May 8.

Flying Saucers? Air Force Still Checks On Them

DAYTON, April 28—(AP)—The Air Force is taking seriously the report of flying saucers. The Dayton Journal-Herald reported today.

The newspaper attributed its story to a report in the files of the technical intelligence section of the Air Materiel command at nearby Wright field.

The Journal-Herald reported the Air Force asked its conclusion on some 240 domestic and foreign reports of the flying discs.

Intelligence section officers were quoted as saying 30 per cent of the reports have been due to conventional aerial objects such as weather and comic ray research balloons.

Commonplace answers are to be found in another 30 per cent, while 40 percent of the reports are in the mystery column.

Commenting on the saucers, evaluation teams were quoted as saying "we can't prove or disprove the existence of some of the remaining unidentified objects as real aircraft of unconventional design."

Visitations from such planets as Mars, where human life is believed to exist, also were considered by students of the discs seen whirling over various sections of the nation. This theory was discounted. Another possibility was foreign aircraft.

"But the reported performance of the discs is so superior to anything we have yet approached in this country that it is not considered any other nation of the earth could have knowledge so far above ours," an intelligence report said.

The Air Force recently gave a contract to Professor Joseph A. Hynek, head of Ohio State university's observatory, to conduct an independent investigation to determine how many reports could be attributed to astronomical phenomena.

A Wright field spokesman last night said as far as he knew the Journal-Herald story was accurate.

Saturn's volume is about 150 times that of the earth. It exceeds the earth in mass only about 80 times, however, since its density is much less than that of our planet.

Dies in Crash

THE AIR FORCE is investigating the crash of a P-51 shooting star at Alliquipp, N. M., in which Capt. Robert L. Coffey, Jr., of Youngstown, Pa., was killed. Coffey, a colonel in the Air Force Reserve, was taking off from Alliquipp when his jet engine malfunctioned. (International)
